An up-and-coming international film festival, the AmiCorti International Film Festival, held every summer in Peveragno, a beautiful medieval historic city in the north of Italy, bears the "stamp" of two Greek artists from Xanthi, in the part of the design of awards and music investment.

Also, two more distinguished Greeks, the associate professor of Philosophy of EKPA Vangelis Protopapadakis and the archaeologist - communicologist Dr. Vicky Bafataki, Participate in this year's festival as academic members of the jury, giving the Greek stigma to an event that is expected to host some of the most famous Hollywood names, such as the director of the two Oscars Paul Haggis, who is the president of the jury committee.

In fact, it is worth noting that the artistic director of the Italian festival Nritra Chiara Rossi also has Greek roots and speaks Greek fluently.

Cooperation between Italian north and northern Greece

The graphic designer and 3D animator George Krallis undertook to design the prizes of the competition and the entire corporate identity of the festival. One of the most popular spring fruits and a trademark of the region, the strawberry, which is the most valuable agricultural product in the mountainous lands of the municipality of Peveragno (Peveragno), was the inspiration and motivation for the Xanthi creator.

"The truth is", explains Giorgos Krallis, "that the area is famous for this particular fruit, which is even available in both Italian and foreign markets. So this year's award is special, inspired by this favorite and very recognizable fruit, a strawberry wrapped in a movie. I have to admit that the choice of the organizers in my person was very honorable and surprised me. I owe the communication with them to Vicky Bafataki from Thrace, this very active, bright and versatile person. All the work was done through the internet and I am sincerely happy because it turned out that when there is will and appetite then the result justifies us "

Xanthiotis creators emphasize the importance of this collaboration, which proved that the people of the region can create excellent works. "A small town in northern Italy hosting a promising international short film festival and a creator from a small town in northern Greece who is inspired to offer them the festival awards," he said, thanking everyone who trusted him with the project. .

Another talented creator, also from Xanthi, the composer Dimos Stathoulis was chosen by the organizers to write the original music that will accompany the promo video, before the screening of each film in the competition part of the festival.

The Municipality of Stathoulis expresses the joy and satisfaction for the fact that he was given the opportunity to present his work but also for the trust they showed him. He points out that his goal was to create an orchestral piece that will highlight the glamor of the event and at the same time will be a trademark.

Last year, 127 films from around the world were submitted to the competition. This year, a total of seven feature films and 155 short films from around the world have been submitted so far. The submission date for the films expired on February 28. The festival takes place in the second fortnight of June and until then, especially for this year, its organizers aspire to be able to organize it even under these difficult health conditions.

"Alpi del Mare" (the Alps of the sea)

Vicky Bafataki, underlines the "extremely interesting" collaboration that was developed and the possibility that is given, through such cultural events, to present the work of talented young creators who live and work in the Greek region and not only in large urban centers.

As an academic member of the jury of the AmiCorti International Film Festival, he points out the need for such remarkable initiatives to be promoted by local communities, such as the organization of an international film festival.

In the case of the municipality of Peveragno, this initiative, as he points out, "highlights the rich history of the city and at the same time motivates young people to get involved in cinema." In an admittedly geographically remote area, at the foot of the Alps, with rich natural beauty and a variety of comparative advantages. It is no coincidence that the area is called "Alpi del Mare" (the Sea Alps) ".
